

The Declaration of the Citizens

When in the course of political events it becomes clear to the Citizens that their government is out of control and has become a threat to the very unalienable rights that it was created to secure, it is the Right and the Duty of the Citizens to Alter their government.

The Declaration of Independence says, "...That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, - That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the Citizens to alter or abolish it, and to institute new Government, ..."

Our government seems to have forgotten that it is our servant, and not our master, so we are now compelled to list our grievances.

1. We the Citizens have endured a long train of assaults upon our common sense, our culture, our values, our borders, and our way of life, while our Liberties have become less secure.
2. Our People have been divided into a multitude of opposing groups and our government of, by, and, for the People, has lost its way and has become more a government of the politicians, by the bureaucrats, and for lobbyists, unions, campaign contributors, drug companies, foreign banks, large corporations, small vocal minorities, the Federal Reserve, the United Nations, and the New World Order.
3. Our government has passed laws against the will of the Citizens and made a mockery of Legislative and governmental processes by:
 - a. Exempting themselves from insider-trading laws.
 - b. Drafting laws and tariffs behind closed doors and using private emails to conduct government business in secret.
 - c. Not allowing enough time or access for congressional and public debate of legislation before passage.
(Speaker Nancy Pelosi said. "we have to pass the bill [ObamaCare], so that you can find out what is in it".)
 - d. Making false and misleading statements about bills and attaching earmarks to effectively buy votes with taxpayer money.
 - e. Passing laws without having fully read them and sometimes before they have even been completely written.
 - f. Making legislation so complicated and so long that the Citizens and many of the politicians cannot understand it.
4. Our government has unrelentingly encroached upon our Liberties, Freedoms and Bill of Rights in the name of "security", "compassion", "general welfare" and "social justice".
5. Our government has delegated powers to bureaucratic agencies that now have the power to create their own laws, execute their laws, and adjudicate their laws as they see fit, largely without Congressional oversight.
6. Our government has used taxpayer money, executive orders, signing statements, legislation, selective, enforcement of laws, and judicial edicts to change the political and cultural demographics of our Nation for personal and political gain.
7. Our government has become an intrusive unconstitutional gatherer of data in apparent violation of the Fourth Amendment of our Bill of Rights, which is intended to protect us against unreasonable searches and seizures.
8. Our government has grown far beyond its original mandate to secure the Blessings of Liberty for ourselves and our Posterity, and is now our largest employer, lender, debtor, purchaser, educator, provider of charity, provider of insurance, provider of health care, and re-distributor of wealth.
9. Our government is using deficit spending to finance government waste, bloated programs, and crony capitalism that we can not afford. Our debt is 17 trillion dollars and the government is squandering the wealth of current and future generations. Growing government programs and out-of-control spending may overload and collapse our economic and political system. (This is very similar to the "Cloward and Piven strategy")
10. Our government has sought to minimize and cover up its failures and the significance of the Debt problem, the Unfunded Liabilities problem, the DOE loan scandal, the Fast and Furious scandal, the Benghazi scandal, the IRS scandal, the Associated Press scandal and the NSA scandal.

We have Petitioned our government for a redress of grievances with little effect. We now find that our Unalienable Right to Alter our government may be our most important Right, because without it all of our other Rights are inevitably in jeopardy. We the Citizens are the last line in the defense of Liberty and now is our time to unite in defense of our Liberty and our Unalienable Rights.

Therefore, with a firm reliance on our Creator and in memory of those who have sacrificed so that we might Live in Liberty, We the Citizens of the United States, hereby establish and codify this Declaration of the Citizens to stand beside our Declaration of Independence as an instrument of our Right and Duty to propose and peacefully enact Alterations to our government by direct Citizen vote, so that our government of the People, by the People, for the People, shall not perish from the earth, and so that we may always remain the land of the free and the home of the brave.

The Alterations under this Declaration of the Citizens, once ratified by a majority of the voting Citizen electorate, will be valid for all intents and purposes as an integral part of our government. Thereafter, our government will make no proclamation, law, or ruling which contradicts or diminishes the enactment and implementation of a ratified Alteration. This Declaration of the Citizens will never be used to infringe upon our Bill of Rights for the Citizens of the United States.

IN GOD WE TRUST and may GOD BLESS AMERICA!
